Summary

This project aims to create a basic social network where users will be able to add links to documents (articles, descriptions or questions regarding a political idea, an opinion etc...), approve/disapprove them, and tag them. There will be different kinds of tags: some tags will be used to associate political/ideological groups to the documents, some tags will be used to help identifying the topics of the document. Users will also be able to talk with other users, and tag them, which means associate them to a political/ideological group.

Users will also be able to query documents or information regarding relationships between users, tags and documents etc...
